Teacher's Notes:

For years I have been having my own students create something that would interest them in the subject at hand. It never mattered if it was Louisiana history, U.S. history, World history, English grammar, reading, art, any subject I was asked to teach that particular year. I used this or some other form just to get my students involved. It always worked.

Just maybe it will work for yours. It does not matter if it is the first of the year, middle, or end of the year. Have fun.

PS2 Historical Event

Directions: First, think about the 'event/person' you are planning to recreate. How would you want the tale retold? How would you want the places illustrated? Why/what might the purchaser be drawn to this product? Now, lightly pencil draw an illustration of the event or person, then pencil color the illustration, then black ink in the details and turn it in for grading.

PlayStation®2

A large, empty white rectangular area with a black border, intended for drawing an illustration of a historical event or person related to the PS2.
