My Notes:

My students LOVED this way of telling the facts, stories, information about hurricanes. It gave them a chance to create something different than the "same worksheet" that was normally done. There are places for them to create charts, lines to tell facts and places to draw symbols for both hurricanes and various weather symbols.

Have students complete the pages then cut the pages out along solid lines. Have them fold the pages along dotted lines and staple the flip-chart together as shown here.
