Lagniappe

[lan-yap]

French noun - a little something extra

Teacher's Notes and Useful Information

I have always loved Lagniappe and the little something extra I could give my students. Around the beginning of school, Christmas time, Mardi Gras, Easter, the end of school I could always give them "a little something extra", EXTRA CREDIT so to speak.

I have enjoyed offering a little bit of Lagniappe to my students and offering them a little chance at daily extra credit. The answers are generally very simple earning them one extra credit point per day – which is not much, but of the course of a week/nine weeks/the school year – it DOES add up

It keeps me current trying to know all the answers they give. There is no need for them to use a textbook, cheat, talk to each other because the questions are SO EASY for the most part. Even the hard ones give them so much play/latitude to answer almost anything that they think of.

There are 51 questions here or 10 weeks of the Lagniappes. I also have one blank sheet so you can create your own questions. Also have another set called The Jambalaya Pot with another set of 50 different questions.,if your interested. I will also create another called the Fais-do-do set of 50 more questions.

Have a good time using these questions and email if you have any other ideas or questions. Email me at latraveler@bellsouth.net
