Teacher Notes

I figured out that it is much simpler to have students fill out a simple graphic organizer than to have them fill out an entire worksheet. Well, Duh! It's also easier to grade which I like. These graphic organizers were designed to cover the info and still let the students know what they need to know in middle school.

It took a while but even I learn from my mistakes. My students seem much happier with these graphic organizers plus they ARE researching and learning all while they are filling out the organizers – and they don't even know they are learning until test and I tell to just 'visualize what they wrote and write it down.'

I have a set of them for various historical figures throughout Louisiana history from Bienville to Claiborne to Andy Jackson to St. Denis to Huey Long to Earl Long to Jimmie Davis to Louis Armstrong to Mike Foster to Jean Lafitte – I have a bunch of them.

Email me to see if I have one you need. MrE at latraveler@bellbouth.net

Two factors that helped Earl win the first governorship.

What was Earl's main ambition?

Which years did Earl serve as governor?

Was Earl a supporter of the Civil Rights movement? Yes/No and explain why/why not.

What was Blaze Starr and what was Earl's interest in her?

What was Earl best known for during his lifetime?

Who put Earl into the mental Hospital in Mandeville and how did he get out?

When/where/why/how did Earl die?

Why/when did Earl's wife file for separation?
