Information:

I generally run these off and punch holes in the left side so that students can keep them as reference material. I tell them they may use them on any test, quiz we have IF it is in their own hand writing. The info is and should become common knowledge so using it as a 'cheat sheet' really does no good but it makes them think it does. I have a number of 'cheat sheets' that my students can use during the year and this is just one of my early on favorites.
