There is always something new when you shop at MrE's History Emporium. There are single day assignments, chapter assignments, history month assignments. You can find World history items, American history items, Louisiana history items (my long-time favorite) and high school U.S. States history items.

This project covers my own Scotch-Irish family background.

My store is NEVER closed and I'm always running sales monthly adding new links depending on the events that are "currently" happening around my own state or region or section of the country. I always have customers milling around my store purchasing items they think their own students might enjoy.

I recently completed a new set of history month and parish projects which covers everything from state symbols to state history to Juneteenth to Women's to Hispanic-Heritage history to Catfish month to Asian-Pacific history to Jazz history to Confederate/military to Irish-American Month to Rose Month to Native American Month to Made in Louisiana month plus others. They are all CHEAP but might give your class something else to work towards either for Extra Credit or a full fill-in grade. They are all interesting. Check them out for your students.

These assignments ask students to read do artwork, pull information that they may not have known or thought about and write in down (which helps them remember) and long term helps them understand why we study history – which most test tend to ignore. Part of my desire to create art projects is the fact that I have an Art degree along with my History degree and Journalism degree and a Tech degree.

There are several ways to get students to research these items in Louisiana or U.S./World things in your textbook (which most of them don't have any or make very little mention of them, there are ones for food, creatures, ethnic groups, music, sports, state symbols, games, etc. but the book does not generally cover very many), so see the librarian, or do a google places/people/items to begin their research for them staying with mainly edu. sites or state run sites such as:

There are items like a simple USPS stamp artwork assignment, a USPS postcard assignment, trading cards, an ABC sheet, a book/library research sheet, magazine cover artwork and others.

Louisiana's Irish-American Month Acrostic Poem

DIRECTIONS: Acrostic poems are fun and easy to write. An acrostic is formed when the first letter in each line spells out a thought, reading top to bottom. The message could be a single word or even a whole sentence. Louisiana Irish-American Month honors those items that make our state special. For this acrostic poem, think of a word that starts with each of the letters in "Irish-American" then write it on the line next to that letter.

Louisiana's Irish-American Month USPS Postcard

DIRECTIONS: Draw your state postcard to promote the Irish-American month and give a BRIEF story on one side for your message, the other for your artwork. Draw in pencil and lightly color in pencil colors to complete assignment.

A rectangular box representing the back of a postcard. A vertical line divides the box into two sections. The left section is for artwork. The right section contains a rectangular stamp area in the top right corner with the text "Place Stamp Here". Below the stamp area are four horizontal lines for an address.

A large, empty rectangular box with a thick black border, intended for drawing the front of the postcard.
